

I'm not a robot

June 21 marks National Indigenous Peoples Day — a time to celebrate the rich cultures, contributions, and histories of First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples There are sure signs that spring has sprung: temperatures rise, flowers bloom, and, at Legal Aid Alberta, summer students join the team and begin their On May 24, LAA celebrates another year of protecting the legal rights of Albertans. Since 1973, Legal Aid Alberta has played a pivotal role in “The right to a lawyer includes the right to understand and be understood,” says Marcus Threndyle, youth criminal duty counsel lawyer. On a Friday morning Mental Health Week is May 5 - 11, raising awareness of the fact that many people - regardless of demographics - struggle with different forms Dealing with a legal issue is stressful. We understand that — especially when life is already overwhelming due to things like family violence, addiction, or People who are unrepresented in court. Albertans who are under arrest and being held in custody. People experiencing family violence or family breakdown. Parents involved in child welfare cases. Youth and adults charged with crime. Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) recipients whose legal issues are covered by LAA. Refugees and newcomers to Canada, Immigration and Refugee Law If you're an adult (age 18+) who has been charged with a crime, we may be able to help you if: You are likely to receive a jail sentence upon conviction, or You are facing deportation upon conviction. If you're dealing with a civil law matter, we may be able to help you with: adult guardianship and trusteeship We are unable to assist with civil matters such as lawsuits, landlord and tenant issues, or wills and estates. General questions about LAA Skip to content Featured Home Page, LAA News, News On April 1, 2023, a modernized LAA tariff officially launched. The goal of this new tariff is to make our staff's and roster lawyers' lives easier. With that in mind, our modernized tariff will now: Increase efficiencies to protect your time. Simplify the way you invoice. Provide lawyers with the proper recognition based on the complexity of their work. Skip to content Featured Home Page, LAA News, News